PROFILE

I'm Sabinaya Sapkota, a Computer Science student focused on Software Engineering and Cybersecurity. I'm interested in building reliable software, understanding how systems work, and exploring how security can be integrated into the way technology is designed, developed, and used.

I learn through building, experimentation and developing software, working with different technologies, exploring cybersecurity concepts, and testing how systems behave. My interests span programming, automation, web technologies, system design, and cybersecurity, with an emphasis on developing a strong technical foundation and understanding how different parts of technology work together.

My goal is to grow into a well-rounded software engineer with strong problem-solving skills and a practical understanding of secure systems. I'm continuously building projects, strengthening my technical knowledge, and seeking opportunities to apply what I learn to meaningful technical challenges while continuing to grow as an engineer.
